BALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short Items of News Gathered on the Fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

The county commissioners were in session yesterday and dealt solely with routine business.

The services held each night at the Union Mission are well attended. Mr. N. B. Broughton will conduct the services to-night.

The 105th North Carolina Supreme Court Report is out and ready for delivery. It will be supplied by A. Williams & Co. for $2,00 by express, or $2,25 by Three people received the right hand of fellowship at the Baptist Tabernacle yesterday. The rite of infant baptism was administered at Christ church, and also at the First Presbyterian church.

A gentleman who has recently been down in the eastern part of the State re-ports that Gen. W. P. Roberts is growing to be a strong and favorite candidate for Congress from the First district, and that the chances for his nomination are very good.

Mr. Marion Alston, of Simpson's Fifth Ward drug store, yesterday received the evidence of victory over a monster rattle snake. His uncle sent him, from Western North Carolina, a ratte with thirty rings and one button. The rattle was taken from one snake and he must have been a giant among his species.

The census question comes up again. And it is suggested that some houses were missed because many Raleigh people and families were out of town when the census was being taken. This is a fact, and accounts for the missing of some whole families. It's an unfortunate fact, however, and will prevent a proper enumeration.

Killed by Whiskey.

A little boy named Will Medlin, about twelve years of age, killed himself by drinking whiskey at Youngsville yester-men, and among the fishing outfit was a ter which they will go to their home in him. demijohn of whiskey. All the men, except one, left the camp tent, and the boy remained there with the man. Presently the man proposed to the boy to take a drink. The little fellow assented, and turning the demijohn up drank as long as he could hold his breath. Then the man sent the boy off to a spring for some water. There is a distillery near the spring, and when the boy got there he got more whiskey and drank it. He managed to get back to camp, but as soon as he arrived he fell down. He was given as much care as possible, and carried back to Youngsville. Physicians were summoned, but to no purpose. The boy died soon after he got back home.

Some of Raleigh's Fast Roadsters.

There is a growing interest in horse flesh in this city. Almost daily a number of gentlemen go out to the fair grounds race track and try the mettle and speed of their roadsters. Among the horses taken out yesterday was Mr. J. N. Holding's handsome five year old stallion "Bob Johnson." He was put on the track and driven by Mr. Theo. Dunn. He cut the wind like an arrow and made the mile in 2.49-and this iu spite of the fact that the track was very soggy and heavy and totally unfit for trotting. There is a wager up now, among horsemen, that "Bob Johnson" will trot a mile in 2.40 within the next ten days. The handsome horse "Primus," owned by Dr. McKee and Mr. Pomeroy, and Dr. Jack Harris' fine roadster also did some splendid trotting, but their time was not accurately taken.

Centennial of Wake Union Church.

The centennial of the Baptist church at Wake Union, near Wake Forest College was held Saturday. Rev. Dr. Carter preached the sermon, Rev. Dr. Hall delivered the address upon the history of the church, and Mr. Geo. W. Thompson prepared a paper which was read by Mr. W. O. Allen on the history of the church. It was established in 1790 by the United Brethren, who gave the Baptists one week, the Episcopalians one week, the Methodists one week, and the Presbyterians one week. There was a tremendous crowd in attendance, and the good people of that community gave them the best sort of dinners.

A KNIFE FOUND

Near the Place Where Julius Jones was Killed on Saturday.

Among the many people who talked about the unfortunate affair of Saturday was one man who was heard to say that Jones, the negro who was killed by the policeman, had a knife in his hand. But the man who said, or was reported to have said this was not seen by the newspaper man, and no report of it was made.

But one of the street force named Mitchell found a knife there yesterday. The trash on the street had been raked into little piles, and Mitchell was hauling it away. Right near the spot where Jones was killed was a pile of trash. Mitchell put his pitchfork into the pile, and as he lifted it, the knife fell through the tines to the ground. It is now in the hands of proper parties.

THEY HATCHED

In Spite of Being Taken From the Hen and Covered With Beans.

Mr. J. B. Massemore, who came up from Chatham county last night, gave the CHRONICLE an account of the resounds like fiction, but the following is negro was killed. He saw the policea firm and positive fact:

of these stubborn, determined hens that wanted to "set." Her own nests were broken up as fast as she begun them. Then she got made, went off and found a guinea nest and got down to business on that. But after one week of "setting" ecstacy and happiness she was found again. She was broken up, and to prevent her from finding the eggs any more, they were put into an empty barrel in a kind of a plunder house. On or about the same day some one went into the plunder house, and without looking in the barrel poured something over a peck of beans into it. That was done over three

Last Saturday Mrs. Bryan went into the plunder house. She heard a commotion in the barrel, and looking in was astounded to see five little guineas ch rping and struggling up among the beaus. The old hen's set of a week had given those embryo guineas the hatching fever, and they were just determined to hatch—"set" or not "set" and they

How they managed to hatch themselves is a mystery; but they did. This narrative is a fact. It's no fairy story. It's vouched for by reliable people. The weather has been hot enough to "soft boil" eggs in this section. Perhaps it was just the right temperature to hatch

For some time past it has been an interesting question as to who would succeed Dr. B. F. Dixon as superintendent of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. A gentleman who has recently been at "headquarters" came back yesterday, and re-ported that Rev. Dr. W. S. Black would be appointed to the position, and it was probable that the official announcement would be made to-day.

MURDER OR MANSLAUGHTER

A LIVELY INTEREST OVER THE

The Examination of Witnesses Resumed -. The Case Postponed Till To-

AFFAIR.

The case of Policeman Hogue, who shot and killed Julius Jones, colored, on last Saturday, while the latter was 12 o'clock.

The affair was almost the main subject of conversation and talk on Sunday, the great question at issue being whether or not the policeman was justified in do-ing the shooting. The talk about the matter aroused a very lively interest in W. C. Gannon, of Pineville, was marit, and when the court opened yesterday ried Wednesday to Mr. Stephen Epps, the large room was full of people. Most of Pineville.

of them, however, were colored people.

Justice Barbee, in opening the court, said that some statements had been Rev. Bennett Smedes and family made in the papers which had not come left yesterday for Round Knob to spend up in the evidence so far given before the court, and that if it were desired, he would open the case for the hearing of new evidence. The prosecution took advantage of this, and called up a number of witnesses. What they said was substantially a corroboration of what other witnesses for the prosecution had testi-

Phillip Harris (col) saw the affair, and on the stand he said he saw Jones running around Woodward's corner. A white man was running after him hitting him with a stick. This was at Woodard's corner. The policeman ran over there from the north side of Hargett street. It seems to me the policeman hit Jones with his billet; then I saw the po liceman fall. He got up, up shooting. Then Jones ran and the policeman ran after him. He caught Jones and took hold of him. I saw the policeman take Jones by the collar as though he would sling him off the sidewalk. Then the policeman will go to Old Orchard Beach, Maine, and fired. I heard Jones say, "Ain't

Mr. Tyson Mills was examined. He was on Hargett street. He said he heard three markable hatching of some eggs. It shots. He saw the last one where the man catch the negro by the shoulder. The negro might have made a motion to Mrs. J. E. Bryan, of Moncure, had one strike the officer, when the officer put his pistol against the negro and fired.

Mr. C. O. Ball testified. He keeps store on Hargett street, and was standing in his door. He saw some disturbance on the corner of Hargett and Wil-mington streets. Then the negro Jones March. 10 58—59 10 61—62 came running down the street, with the officer after him. The officer fired two shots. The negro halted in front of Redford's store and the policeman caught hold of hlm. He took the negro by the shoulder. I do not know what the negro done, for the officer was between me and the negro, but the officer shot him.

Rev. Alvin Betts was called and examined. He was at his Hargett street store. He said: I was waiting on a customer and heard an explosion-a loud snap. Almost instantly I heard another report. I then turned toward the door. | Louisville, My son was standing in the door. He St. Louis, turned at once and said: "Father I'm shot." He was shot in fleshy part of the thigh: Officer Woodall was in court and identified the pistol used in the shooting.

Testimony by the Defence.

The defence did not introduce any witness during the morning. The following is some of the evidence from that side at the hearing on Saturday evening.
O. W. Belvin who was examined on Saturday said he saw Hogue catch Jones, and Jones struck the officer. Some one handed him Hogue's billet which had been dropped when the officer first came and, finding other eggs, determined to up to the negro. > ning. The negro stopped and made fight. I think some one came up and handed the officer his billet. There was a scuille of perhaps a half a minute after Hogue grabbed the negro before the fatal shot was fired. Jones was striking, and Hogue was trying to pull Jones down, as it appeared to me.
> Mr. M. L. Oldham who was at Crock-> er's store said that when the officer caught the negro, the negro showed fight; the officer had a pistol in his right hand. Jones had his hand in the officer's breast. They were in a scuffle, turning about, when the last shot was

The Case Continued Till To-morrow. When the State had finished with the witnesses it introduced yesterday, the defence announced that two or three witnesses who lived several miles from the city, were very necessary to the interests of the prisouer, and asked that the hearing be continued till to-day, when they could be brought here. There was no objection to his, and Justice Bar-bee adjourned the hearing until this morning at 11 o'clock.

Our Regrets at a Mistake.

The CHRONICLE regrets that allusion was made in Sunday's paper to the killing of a man by another member of Officer Hogue's family. The killing was purely in self-defense, as can be established at this day. It ought not to have the least particle of weight in this case, and we regret that it was even stated in Mr. R. H. Austin, an aged influential rivals of desirable patterns. All grades, the Chronicle. Officer Hogue's case ought—and will not we are sure—be prejudiced by this statement.

The Pastor of One of Our City Churches Overlooked.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 2.-I believe I saw in the CHRONICLE a few days ago a request that all persons in the city whom the census taker had overlooked to please report to you.
